Also observed from the Higher Outer Hill the top of R.C. Range marked A nearly in a line with B bearing 200 (B a little more Eastward) the Heathy Hill up Detention River 217° (the Highest top which was burnt by poor Lorymer)

162 ... gry Dip S.E.

a distant Hill top S.E.

Descended E and turned round to the North to inspect the Cave Rock – in going down passed by large Rocks of Quartz Red, white, and blue veined, went up from the Valley climbed over steep Rocks and entered the Cave, it is a grand cleft in a perpendicular mass of Rock from 2 to 300 feet high – proceeded with caution expecting the Natives might be there.

its entrance is 50 feet high

there is a steep ascent the whole
depth

the bottom is covered with the Shells which the Natives have carried there to cook viz Muscles Muttonfish Limpets and Warrinas there are plants growing 10 feet within the Entce.

NB the NW or Lower Outer Hill faces this Caves mouth and bears W.N.W (abt. 400 yds off)

The Strata of this Mass of Rock are nearly vertical, receding abt. 20° from a vert line Southward

The Cavern Rock at Rocky Cape (looking E)

From the Cavern I went along the Shore westward and headed several little Bays picked up some of the wreck of the Dotterel, Teak built Vessel wrecked last March off Port Dalrymple – Inspected the place (marked D on Sketched Map) where Mackie went ashore and surprised the Natives, they had made 2 fires among some low bushes of Tea Tree & Honeysuckle and had been roasting Shellfish I saw a great many Shells there burnt and broken, the grass on which they reposed,